Where do you currently live?

- Bangalore, Karnataka

What is your occupation?

- Cybersecurity

What do you like the most about your occupation?

- It has the potential to become the biggest sector for graduate employment

Your advice to students looking for a career in this field.

- The field is as wide and deep as medicine is, with that many specializations. Any career aspirant in this field needs to develop basic competencies in 3 areas -

1. IT Infrastructure - Servers, Operating System, Networks, Database, Ethical Hacking, Forensics.

2. Cybersecurity Governance, Risk Management, Auditing

3. Privacy, Cyberlaws, Enforcement. It will take at least 1 year of intensive training and 6 months of industry internship to develop market acceptance. The best part is that this field is open for students even after 12th standard and they can shine before acquiring their bachelors degree.

- Negativity and Cynicism in Public life

If I have to describe myself in 3 words, I would choose these words:
- Innovation, Uncertainty, Entrepreneurship

I think these are the 3 biggest difficulties students face in pursuing their career aspirations:
- 1. Robotic Career Automation - Students follow a herd mentality of planning and implementing their career choices, without independent thinking.
2. Gap between what industry needs and what academic institutions teach
3. Students and parents want the best quality education and careers, at the cheapest cost or free. This mindset for free or cheap education is leading to decline of university education, leaving only few islands of excellence

If I could change 3 things in the world, I would change these
- 1. Industrialization and Corporatization of Agricultural, Poultry, Livestock, Marine sectors.
2. Consolidation and Cartels in Media, Banking, Finance.
3. Outdated and Flawed economic theories
